TELEPHONE GIRL SHOT TO DEATH; SLAYER ESCAPES

Josephine Howard, 18, is Shot Down at Eighteenth and Cherry Streets

REJECTED SUITOR SOUGHT; MOTHER TELLS OF THREATS

Young Woman and Escort Ambushed on Way Home From Movies

Josephine Howard, eighteen years old, 408 North Eighteenth street, was shot and killed by an unknown assailant shortly after midnight as she was passing a building operation at Eighteenth and Cherry streets on the way home from a moving-picture show with an escort.

Just as the couple had passed a pile of lumber a man stepped out and, without a word, fired two shots into the girl's back. She sank with a moan and the murderer fled.

The girl was taken across the street to the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital, where it was found that one of the bullets had passed directly through her heart.

Lester Newhall, twenty-six years old, a rejected suitor and a dishonorably discharged marine, is being sought by the police as having an intimate connection with the crime.

On information that Newhall had been seen in Camden around 7 or 8 this morning Detective Douglas left early this afternoon for National Park, N. J. It was learned that Newhall was a member of a social organization which has a cottage near there, and the detectives say he may have gone there.

Josephine, who was exceptionally pretty, and very popular with the young people of her neighborhood, received an invitation to attend the movies last evening with James Sullivan, twenty-six, 113 South Thirtieth street, a former student. She was to meet him shortly after 9 o'clock, and she left her home at about that hour.

Mrs. Albert Howard, sister-in-law of the girl and wife of Albert Howard, a former patrolman attached to the Third and De Lancey streets station, saw Josephine reach the corner of Eighteenth and Wood streets.

Police Told of Threats
Here the girl was accosted by Newhall, who was well known to the Howard family, due to the fact, they declare, that he has been forcing his attentions on the girl for over a year. Newhall grabbed the girl and ran away with her, and she cried out before morning.

Josephine, according to the police, shook herself free from Newhall's grasp and left him. He followed for a step or two and then turned away.

The girl went on and met Sullivan and they went to the show together. After the performance they went into a drug store at Nineteenth and Chestnut streets where they had a soda. Leaving there they were on their way home past the southeast corner of Eighteenth and Wood streets when the shooting occurred.

Sullivan, more concerned with the girl's condition than with her assailant, who was over her on the pavement. He saw the two ugly fellows in her back, and picking her up in his arms, rushed across the street to the hospital. She died in his arms as he sped across the street.

The shots attracted the attention of pedestrians who, led by Patrolman McCarty, of the Fifteenth and Chestnut streets station, and William Crabtree, 20 North Eighteenth street, gave chase to the fleeing assailant.

Slayer Dodges Pursuers
The man led the posse on Eighteenth to Arch, to Seventeenth, to Filbert, where he dashed into the Pennsylvania Railroad building, and dodged among his own life in wild dodges among the flying wheels and high-powered generators.

PLAN UNITED CHURCH FIGHT AGAINST MOVIE MINISTERS

Presbyterian General Assembly in Movement Opposing Caricatures
Action was taken today by the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church looking to a united church campaign against depicting ministers in ridiculous fashion in motion pictures.

The committee was appointed by the General Assembly, which is meeting in the First United Presbyterian Church, Fifty-second street and Chester avenue, to voice through the news distributing associations the attitude of the Assembly toward motion-picture producers and exhibitors who are instrumental in the showing of caricatures of ministers.

This committee will also urge other denominations to unite in a general movement against the alleged practice of misrepresenting the work of ministers through motion-picture productions.

The Rev. S. J. Kyle, of York, Pa., said he knew a minister who had attended a motion-picture show, seen a grossly misrepresentative of the true character of ministers, and had opposed the picture with such vigor that its exhibition was stopped.

He believe in a little holy pugilism, Billy Sunday style, in dealing with this question," Mr. Kyle declared.

TWO WOMEN ARE SHOT WHILE WATCHING FIGHT

Innocent Bystanders Injured at Third and Ritten Streets

Two women were shot last night as men believed to be strike sympathizers chased a Cramp's Shipyard worker, who ran west on Roseberry street, near Third, with blood flowing from black-jack wounds of the head and face.

Mrs. Ida Sapol, forty-eight years old, 327 Roseberry street, was struck in the hip by a bullet, which made a flesh wound. Mrs. Fannie Rose, sixty-eight years old, 300 Roseberry street, also was struck in the hip.

Herbert Anderson, twenty-six years old, 2742 South Fairhill street, a Cramp's Shipyard worker, left a trolley car at Second and Ritten streets, at 5:30 o'clock yesterday.

Anderson walked to Roseberry street, a small thoroughfare south of Ritten, and started west. At Third street five men attacked him. One swung a black-jack several times, dazing Anderson. He broke and ran west, and ran west, his assailants following.

As Anderson ran for his life five shots were heard. Mrs. Rose had been standing in front of her home and suddenly collapsed on the sidewalk. A few seconds later Mrs. Sapol, who was returning home from a near-by store, also fell.

A crowd gathered at once. In the excitement the five assailants escaped. When police arrived they found Anderson near Fourth street, trying to staunch the flow of blood. The shipyard worker and the two women were taken to Mt. Sinai Hospital.

Police obtained good descriptions of the five men said to have been responsible for the outrage. Fliers were sent to all police districts.

Will of W. S. Duling, Lower Merion, Provides for Emma J. King
The will of William S. Duling, of Lower Merion, who was identified with the Philadelphia firm of Laird, Schorer & Co., leaves one-third of his $150,000 estate to "my intended wife, Emma J. King, which portion is to be held in trust for her for life, but at her death she is to have the power to distribute the principal as she sees fit."

No member of the Duling family could be located today and friends of the dead man say that they did not know any Emma King. The Marriage License Bureau here has no record of any application for a license being made in this county.

The will, which was executed the third of last July, left another third of the estate to the wife of Harold Duling, absolutely, while the other third is to be in trust for the benefit of the testator's daughter, Ewing. It also provides $10,000 for the wife of Harold Duling, and $10,000 to his granddaughter, Isabelle H. Ewing, to receive the principal when they reach the age of twenty-one.

NO FIRE, JUST FUMIGATION

Market Street Restaurant Was Simply Fighting Roaches
Because owners of the White Star lunch room, 2222 Market street, didn't tell neighbors in advance about their plans, several fire companies got a run for nothing this morning, only to find that there was no fire.

As a matter of fact, it was a gas attack upon roaches. Sulphur candles were lit at midnight and the doors locked. As a neighbor, dressing leisurely, got a whiff of odors that don't belong around restaurants.

Engine Company 43, from a block down Market, this morning, and the doors were sure enough blue haze pervading the place. Smashing the door in, the hosemen entered. Then they stepped back for air.

And there was more blue haze outside, but it didn't come from the sulphur candles. The door was the only thing damaged.

GIRL DIES BY POISON

Despondent Over Younger Sister's Approaching Wedding
Despondent because her young sister was being married before herself, Elizabeth West, twenty-three years old, 255 South Sixty-third street, took poison several days ago and died at 2 o'clock this morning in the Misericordia Hospital. Police say the girl took two kinds of poison.

Max West, her father, told Deputy Coroner Blinn this morning that he could assign no reason for his daughter's act except that her younger sister's marriage in June seemed to prey on her nerves and caused her to be occasionally despondent.

APPEAL TO HARDING FOR SONS PLANNED BY MRS. BERGDOLL

Mother of Slacker Shaken by Seizure of Property by Government

"BETTER OFF IN RUSSIA" IS HER BITTER COMPLAINT

Her stolid complacency broken down completely because of the Government's seizure of her slacker son's riches, Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll said today she will appeal personally to President Harding.

Mrs. Bergdoll left "Castle Bergdoll," Fifty-second street and Wynnefield avenue, at 8:30 o'clock this morning, and after a motor trip to Llanerch, where groceries were bought, she went to Broomall for the week-end.

The mother of Grover Bergdoll, the draft dodger and army convict, now a fugitive in Germany, made no effort to hide the crushing effect of the blow dealt yesterday when Colonel Miller, Allen Property Custodian, seized all the Bergdoll real and personal property and sequestered their bank accounts.

"I would be better off in Russia or Germany than I am in this country," she said, as she fingered an edge of her blue coat. "It would not be any harder for me there than here."

Contradicts Sworn Statements
As she talked slowly, she made an implied denial of pro-Germanism, declared the woman was a money war and not one for democracy and incidentally contradicted testimony she gave under oath before the House committee investigating the slacker.

"God in heaven knows I am innocent," she went on. "He is the judge. He knows I am innocent. It is the United States Government which is causing the trouble. Judge Dickinson knows I am innocent. I think the jury was bribed."

She referred to her conviction in the Federal court here of aiding a deserter for which a $7000 fine was imposed, with prison as the alternative.

"How can I help from worrying about my boy?" she continued. She began sobbing. "What kind of a mother would I be if I didn't stick up for my boy? What kind of a mother would any mother be if she didn't stick up for her boy?"

"They say I am pro-German. For twenty-four years I paid taxes on an estate in the suburbs of Washington which I offered to the Government free of charge at the beginning of the war and they refused it."

Has "Slacker Bonus" Plan
"If all the slackers paid $300 each there would be enough money to make all the soldiers happy."

Mrs. Bergdoll then repeated a statement she had made many times before that Grover Cleveland paid $300 for a substitution in the draft in the Civil War.

"The war was a money war and was not for democracy," she continued. "It was England who forced us into it. The house at Wynnefield belongs to Grover, but the furniture in it is mine. It is not his, but mine. I cannot take that. I am going to make a direct appeal to President Harding to keep them from taking the house at Wynnefield, which belongs to Grover."

"They say my son is an undesirable. If that is so why do they want to bring him back?"

Mrs. Bergdoll was asked if she feared the government would lose the house. "Not of gold," she testified she buried somewhere near the Wynnefield house.

"Ach, it's absurd. There's nothing but that pot of gold business," she replied.

Major Vincent A. Carroll, counsel for the Allen Property Custodian, who read the seizure notice to Mrs. Bergdoll yesterday, called at the Federal Building today and conferred with Agent McDevitt, of the Department of Justice.

WARRANT IS THREATENED

Major Carroll said he heard Mrs. Bergdoll intended to obtain a warrant for him and McDevitt for making "Continued on Page Four, Column Five"

The banks of the Schuylkill presented a gay scene this afternoon just before the start of the American Henley boat racing. While long, narrow shells, with their complements of sturdy oarsmen, maneuvered about on the water, a gayly dressed throng lined up and down the driveway on each side, eager for the start.

The water's edge was thronged with highly decorated canoes and small craft. Phonographs tinkled everywhere, and preparations for the river classic sent a thrill of excitement through the concentration of fans gathered.

The half-promise of sunshine invited the fair sex to don their brightest. Pennants fluttered everywhere, waved by the admirers of the many clubs entered for the event.

The regatta is being held under the auspices of the American Henley Association over the mile and 550-yard courses. Ten races are on the program. The first is scheduled for 2:30 P. M.

Conditions were pronounced fine for the races by the officials before the start.

Thirty-four entries were received by the fair sex to the ten races, thirteen of which are from colleges and five are crew cuts from battleships in the Atlantic Fleet.

It was quite a disappointment to the stevedores when they did not receive Princeton's entry of the varsity crew in the regatta.

HOSPITAL BILLS CUT 10 P. C. BY SPROUL AS HE ENDS WORK

1921 Legislature Formally Over as Governor Completes Task of Signing Acts

$115,000,000 APPROVED IN NEW APPROPRIATIONS
By a Staff Correspondent
Harrisburg, Pa., May 28.—An average cut of 10 per cent was made by Governor Sproul today in appropriations to hospitals, homes and sanatoria throughout the State.

The appropriations for State Colleges received from $3,411,214 to $2,407,000, the Governor explaining the reduction on the ground of insufficient revenue.

With the signing of the big appropriation bill the Governor ended his work on the 1060 bills which reached him. About 2000 bills were introduced in the Legislature, 500 of them carrying appropriations. Forty-two bills were recalled by the Legislature.

Numerous Vetoes
The closing days of executive action were marked by numerous vetoes of salary raisers and the reduction of substantial amounts from the general appropriation bill, and the appropriations for charitable and educational purposes.

More than $6,000,000 was cut from the general appropriation bill, which carries more than $58,000,000 and is the largest ever approved, while approximately $8,000,000 has been reduced from the ground of insufficient revenue. The Governor approved aggregate appropriations for hospitals, charitable and educational institutions, the figures for which have not yet been announced.

It is estimated that the total cut made by the Governor will run in the neighborhood of $21,000,000, which will reduce the total amount approved to about $115,000,000.

Old revenue laws are expected to yield the State about $94,000,000 and it is estimated the new revenue production under the Governor's proposal will bring in about $25,000,000 more.

$4,500,000 From Gas Tax
These include collateral inheritances, $5,000,000; gasoline tax, $4,500,000; anthracite coal, $15,000,000; and all other new sources of taxation, $1,000,000.

The Governor also vetoed bills calling for appropriations aggregating $2,975,000 on the ground of insufficient revenue. In the list was $1,000,000 for the soldiers and sailors memorial bridge in the Capital Park plan of improvements, $1,000,000 for the State for township highways and $250,000 for a garage for motor vehicles owned by the State.

The bill appropriating $125,000 for purchase of copies of the history of the Twenty-eighth Division and distribution by the State was vetoed with these remarks:

"In times like these it would be impossible to justify so large an expenditure for the purpose contemplated by this bill. At some later time, perhaps after the war, it might be possible to compile a creditable history of the Seventy-ninth Division has also been prepared, it may be possible for the State to make such distribution of these volumes as is contemplated under this measure."

The general maintenance deficiency has been cut from $281,000 to $251,000, general maintenance from $1,800,000 to $1,600,000, and buildings from $650,000 to $250,000. The detail of the reductions is given as extension work, $824,214 to $450,000; apprentice schools, $750,000 to $367,000; summer school, $100,000 to $40,000.

The Governor also announced he had vetoed the bill for a commission to codify the statutory law because of the expense.

The ordinance includes an item of $2000 for traveling and other expenses of probation officers and investigators of the Juvenile Division of the Municipal Court; $5000 for traveling expenses of officers of the Domestic Relations and Criminal Divisions of the Municipal Court and $5000 for printing and stationery for the Municipal Court.

Other items included are $40,000 for salaries of orderlies and helpers of the Department of Health and $7500 additional for the observance of Memorial Day, for which $10,000 was appropriated. The Mayor will act on the ordinance before the next meeting of Council.

PENN IS FAVORITE TO REPEAT VICTORY IN COLLEGE MEET

Eastern Hopes Fanned on Red and Blue as Final Act of Intercollegiate Starts

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL
Soldiers' Field, Cambridge, Mass., May 28.—With Penn touted as the heavy favorite, the final act of the intercollegiate track and field championships was put on this afternoon. The Red and Blue is expected to keep the championship in the East and send California and Stanford back with third or fourth place.

The sky was overcast with heavy clouds, and it looked like rain when the meet began. There was no wind, the track was lightning fast, and if the moist clouds do not leak, some records are expected to flop.

Woodring should come close to smashing the 220-yard mark, and no one would be surprised if Kirksey should take a sock at the figures in the 100 yards. It was reported this morning that the California speedster has a lame back, but that's only a report.

There is unusual interest in the one-mile run. Penn students are backing Brown heavily against Campbell of Yale, and it looks as if some of the jolly undergraduates would walk home. All of their spare change has been registered.

Eby, Brown and Maxam are in good shape today, and Coach Robertson is highly optimistic. This trio must come through with flying colors to win the meet for Penn.

Romig, of Penn State, looks like a sure winner in the two-mile run. Before the meet began Morris Kirksey, Leland Stanford sprinter, said he would not be able to run in the 220-yard dash, but it was doubtful whether he would be able to go through with the 100-yard sprint. Kirksey strained himself early this spring when he was jumping out on the coast. Yesterday the old injury came back and this will give Woodring, of Syracuse, an easier time in the dashes.

Leconey, of
